The Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering (ECE), in the College of Engineering at Tennessee Tech University (TTU), Cookeville, TN, invites applications for a three-year, temporary, non-tenure track Lecturer position to begin August 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in Electrical and Computer Engineering and assist with Capstone Design projects. Qualified candidates must possess a B.S. in Electrical or Computer Engineering, an M.S. in Electrical or Computer Engineering, or related field, and clearly demonstrate the potential for teaching excellence in a variety of courses in the TTU ECE Department. Excellent communication and writing skills are also required. Preferred candidates will have a Ph.D. in Electrical Engineering, Computer Engineering, or closely related field, have some prior teaching or industrial experience, and possess the ability to teach fundamental courses in Electrical Engineering. Laboratory teaching experience in Programmable Logic Controllers (PLC) will be preferable.

The ECE Department, with about 400 undergraduate and 50 graduate students and 14 faculty positions, provides an exciting environment for lecturer growth and development. More information about the department, including a list of undergraduate courses taught in the Department, can be found online at <https://www.tntech.edu/engineering/departments/ece/about/>. The expected starting date of employment is August 1, 2019.

Screening of applications will begin March 31, 2019; open until filled. Interested persons must apply online at jobs.tntech.edu and will be required to upload the following: a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching, unofficial copy of the transcript of the highest degree earned (official transcripts of all institutions of higher education required upon hire), and complete contact information of three references.
